MOTORIZED POOL LOUNGER FLOAT

I never had more fun getting hammered this summer than in my new favourite toy, the most advanced pool lounge known to mankind, that is. Two quiet but powerful motors propelled me around the pool (on the rooftop of the Lodown headquarter) in comfort and style, with easy-to-use joysticks that control two independent propellers.

45 TWISTER

LADIES WEAPONS

"Hi, I'm Juan Collera, and when I rob the occasional drug store, I use Lady's Weapons by Antonio Rello".

It has always been said that if women ran the world, there would be no violence or war. Well, there may be violence, but it would be much prettier if these hot little weapons were used. From Leopard pint guns to heart Trod hand grenades, this retro line from Antonio Rello makes shooting someone a classy affair. As part of an exhibition staged in 1988, Rello created these weapons and named them after key women in his life. From Svetlana to Nathalie, these pieces are created from the heart. Artist Antonio Rello has created a collection of ladies weapons. His designs combine retro couture with real military weapons, including assault rifles, pistols, sub machine guns, hand grenades and rocket launchers.

SONY ERICSSON Z810

THE 45 TWISTER

The 7" is arguably the finest of all vinyl formats... unfortunately it was a bitch to integrate them into your daily scratch-tactics and beat-juggle workflow. These days are over now, thanks to the 45 Twister. Now even the most precious Funk single spins solid like a 12".

SONY ERICSSON Z810

Blending performance with a sleek mirror finish on the front cover, the gives a mirror-like quality complimented by a hidden 'magic mirror' display. Only seen when in use, the hidden external display illuminates, giving the effect that the caller-ID information is floating on the face of the phone itself. This slick design is in three different colors available. Give 'em a try.

KAWS TOY

I know what you guys think... why do they feature every fucking thing the guy releases? Isn't the Lodownquad sick and tired of releasing Kaws' art? Well, obviously not! Especially not since it's the first time in six years that Kaws is collaborating with Bounty Hunter.

VANS VS NECKFACE

You sure know Neckface's demonic creatures by now... you've seen them on gallery walls, in the streets of our major cities and probably even in your worst nightmares. But seriously doubt that you've seen them on shoes, so far. Vans (Gyrfalke) invited the creepy artist to design four different models that will finally hit the streets any time soon. Tee's and a special New Era cap will complete the package.

GRUSLI

Wow, given birth to her 500th child just recently, Mother Guesli sure isn't the one with an anatomically contracted pelvis. If you're a nice person and write her a letter, maybe even send her your beloved 'Chorus Of Disapproval' (see your girlfriend hates so much and add a little money, you're getting a custom made) kiddo yourself.

LIGHT FINGERS

Ever wanted to become your own club by sporting a hypnotic light show at your fingertips? Put on your favourite music, turn down the lights, and dazzle yourself with beams of pun color. You control more than 20 different pre-programmed light show patterns, plus a black light and strobe light add mind-blowing effects. Actually it's not getting any sadder than this.

NITRAID

In case you're looking for your next bad du jour, you don't really have to look any further than Tokyo. Nitraid - 'Avi Babylor Equipment' isn't really a brand new company though... it's just highly astounding how quickly they've evolved. Still strong comfortably between skate, street and the boom bag, they offer a wide range of awesome designs, basic shirts and extravagant accessories. They're strongly connected to graph-wizard Eight and heavyweight hip hop talents like Dill, the Nitro pass or Macka-Chin. Fucking hell, they're even producing their own water.

METH GUN

Well, this thing here might look like a funky hairdryer from Raymond's Office, but make no mistake... it will fuck you up for good.
